STATEMENT OF PROBABLE CAUSE

On October 25, 2026, at 10:24 p.m., Richfield Police Officer Daytona Dahler was dispatched to 6600 Lyndale Ave, in the City of Richfield, Hennepin County, on the report of suspicious activity. Dispatch advised there was a female who does not live there, buzzing apartments. The female gained access into the building and was now in the elevator trying to go to the upper floors. Officers made contact with the suspect, later identified as Ginzi Duncan and hereinafter referred to as the defendant. The defendant walked out of the elevator as Officer Johns was trying to talk to her. Officer Dahler then stepped in front of the defendant and attempted to speak with her. The defendant walked away from the officer. Officer Dahler attempted to grab the defendant's arm, and she tried to slap away the officer's hand and pulled her arm away from the officer. Officers then instructed the defendant to place her hands behind her back because she was being detained. The defendant ignored officers' commands. Officers were eventually able to place the defendant in handcuffs. Officers were attempting to figure out if the defendant lived in the building, but the defendant would not speak. The defendant then dropped to the ground on her own. Officers instructed the defendant to stand up, and she did not. Officers grabbed the defendant's right arm and lifted her up, at which point the defendant walked to the squad car. Once at the squad car, the defendant would not sit in the squad car. The officer grabbed the defendant's legs, lifted them up and put them in the squad car. Sgt Schipp arrived on scene to help identify the suspect, as she had not provided her name yet. Schipp attempted to get the defendant's fingerprint. The defendant tightly clenched her fist and would not allow Sgt Schipp to take her fingerprint. The officer informed her that if she did not cooperate she would be arrested. The defendant refused to speak and was placed under arrest. The defendant refused to speak and was placed under arrest. The defendant was removed from the squad car so that she could be searched. The defendant began to resist and pull away. The defendant then turned towards Sgt Schipp and spit in his direction at least two times. The defendant also stomped her feet in an attempt to assault Officer Johns. Once the defendant was searched, the defendant would not get into the squad car. The defendant was pulled into the squad car but would not sit up.. The defendant had a suitcase with her which contained paperwork for Ginzi Duncan. The defendant also had a wallet with a South Carolina ID card identifying her as Ginzi Duncan.
